something distinct from all the others. "Taxes" means an exaction by government of a portion of a citizen's property or income. "Duties" means assessments imposed upon merchandise imported from other countries. "Imposts" means a tribute imposed by authority. "Excises" means inland duties laid on commodtues consumed, or on the retail, which is the last stage before con-umption. There is one thing to be observed in interpreting the Constitution of the United States: it contains no tautologies. It does not call different things by the same name. When it says taxes, it means one thing; when it says duties, it means another thing. In speaking in a former letter of the preamble to the first tariff act, I omitted to notice a remarkable fact. Among all the statutes enacted by the First Congress, there were only two that had a preamble affixed to them. These were the first revenue law, and the law for the government of the Northwest Territory. The reason for declaring the motives of these laws in a preamble was that it was deemed expedient to express the sense of Congress on the construction of the Constitution in relation to the subject involved. Mr. Wells quotes, with approbation, the following sentence from Mr. Cleveland's message of December, 1888:

"To the extent that the mass of our citizens are inordinately burdened beyond any useful public purpose and for the benefit of a favored few, the government, under pretext of an exercise of its taxing power, enters gratuitously into p restained in the power, enters gratuitously into p restained in the misery of a vast majority of our people."

With all due respect to Mr. Wells, I must say that this sentence is the most stupid utterance that I have known to be made by a man pretending to be a statesman. Let the reader try to analyze it, and he will find that he can assign to it no sensible meaning. Who are the mass of our citizens inordinately burdened for the bene-fit of a favored few? And who are the favored few! There are some sixty millions of people in the United States. It is fair to say that at least one-third of them are engaged in manufacturing industries of some kind; that another third are engaged in agricultural pursuits, and that the employments of the remaining third consist of the diversified pursuits of a highly civilized people. What one of all these millions is not benefited by having and keeping the country in a state of having and keeping the country in a state of prosperity? And how can the country be pros-perous if, in levying the duties necessary to pro-duce what is needed for the expense of the government, no regard is paid to the protection of pur own manufactures and agricultural prod-ucts! And what does Mr. Cleveland mean when he says that the government, "under pretext of an exercise of its taxing power, enters into part-nership with these favorites, to their advantage and to the misery of a vast majority of our peoplet" When the government levies duties on foreign products it does not exercise or pretend to exercise its taxing power. It exercises its power to lay duties, which is a distinct power of the Constitution, entirely separate from the tax-

Have both the political parties been wrong on this subject from the year 1789 down to the new lights of the Democracy in 1892?
Is Grover Cleveland a greater man or a better Democrat than Andrew Jacksont In 1832 General Jackson was nominated and voted for as a candidate for the Presidency on a platform which is in strange contrast with the utterance of the spurious Democracy lately assembled at Chicago. Let me place the two side by side:

Platform of Grover Platform of Andrew Gleveland, 1892. Jacks on, 1832. We denounce Republican protection as a adequate protection of fraud upon the labor of industry is indispensative great majority of ble to the prosperity the American people of the country, and that for the benefit of a few. If any one will take the trouble to examine the national platforms of all the political parties, from 1789 down to the recent period when the present leaders of the Democracy assumed to speak for the party, he will find that the Democratic party has not been behind any other, Federalist or Whig, in upholding the policy of protection. I have been a voter since the year 1833, and although I was bred a Whig, and although there were fundamental differences be-tween the Democratic and the Whig party all along, I never understood that one of those differences was on the subject of protection. Yet, when I now declare my adhesion to a faith that I have held all my life, certain papers are pleased to speak of my "political somersault!!" Why should I turn a somersault at my time of life! What have I to gain by passing out of one party into another? If any one will tell me perhaps will pay him a premium. In the mean time, I remain respectfully yours,

FLOP OF JUDGE REA.

An Ex-Commander of the G. A. R. Comes Out for the "Stuffed" Pension Vetoer, MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 26.—It was announced at a late hour last night that John P. Rea. ex-commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., will vote the Democratic ticket at the election in November. It is said that Judge Rea's conversion from Republicanism was primarily brought about by Mr. Cleveland's pension vetoes. Speaking of the matter today Judge Reasaid that after an exhaust-Ive research into the matter he failed to find a single veto that was not based on principles of right and justice. He also states that the Republican party is wrong in its tariff theories.

A Disappointed Office-Seeker. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 .- The animus in the case of Mr. Rea is not hard to find. Not satisfied with his election to be district judge, Mr. Rea aspired to be the Repulican nominee for Governor of the State of Minnesota. He was disappointed in this. Then he aspired three times to the Republican nomination for Congress in his district and each time he was turned down by the local Republicans, who preferred to be rep-resented by some one else. Mr. Rea then spacious ampitheatre, and nearly five bunthought that the administration might be more grateful than his Republican friends in Minnesota, and he made a campaign for the pension commissionership. The Senators from his State refused to indorse him and he did not get the appointment. Then came a vacancy in the Interstate-commerce Commission and Mr. Rea made a bid for that place, only to be disappointed again. Now he has picked up his dolls and refuses to play any longer with the Republican party. There has not been a worse case of disappointed office-seeker in a great many years. The Grand Army veterans who know Cleveland's pensionveto record are not going to be fooled into voting for him by the action of Mr. Rea.

BILL AND MACVEAGH.

The Senator's Attack on the Mugwump Causes an Incident in a Hotel.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.-There was an amusing encounter at the Arlington Hotel this morning. Senator Hill passed through the city on his way from New York to Lynchburg, and stopped to get breakfast at the Arlungton. Wayne MacVeagh, the recently converted mugwump, has been in Washington some days attending to a case in the Supreme Court. He is stopping at the Arlington. Last night, in his Tammany Hall speech, Senator Hill plainly expressed his contempt for "the ostentatious zeal of the new convert who, after having for years enjoyed the honors and emoluments of position conferred upon him by his party, suddenly assumes to see a new light and turns around and bitterly assails his former political associates with venomous vituperation." This slap was very evidently directed at Mr. MacVeagh. Probably the head waiter at the Arlington had not read Senator Hill's speech, for when the Senator entered the breakfast-room of the hotel this morning he was escorted to the table at which Mr. MacVeagh was eatlog his breakfast. The latter was reading a newspaper when Senator Hill entered. He lowered it when he saw the Senator. and a look of pain overspread his features when the head waiter brought the "I am a Democrat' to a seat directly opposite him. Mr. MacVeagh has not the honor of Mr. Hill's personal acquaintance; evidently he does not want it. He got up from the table just as the Senator sat down, and walked rapidly out of the dining-room. Senator Hill's attack on MacVeagh amuses the Republicans mightily. It would not have come with a very good grace from them, and it is of all the more party advantage coming from the Democratic Senator from New York.

THE OUTLOOK.

Republicans Confident that Harrison and Reid Will Be Elected.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.-Jesse Rays, of this city, has received a letter from Perry Carson, who is now in Indiana, saying: "We are solidly united, and the election will be a general sweepstakes for the Republican party." Mr. Carson will remain in the West until after the election.

Henry D. Hyde, of Boston, formerly a member of the Republican national committee from Massachusetts, says that Massachusetts is safe for the Republicans. The Washington Post has an interview with Senator Proctor this morning, in which he says of the decrease of the Republican vote in Vermont: "The Republican majority was fully as large as that by which I was elected Governor of the State in 1878, and there was no increase in the Democratic vote. Every once in awhile the Republican vote in Vermont falls off without any apparent reason. This year there were anumber of local causes, including the fact that the State fair was in progress during election week." Senator Proctor says that he is confident of the election of Mr. Harrison. Very little interest is being taken in the campaign in his own State, however. General Hobart, the Republican national committeeman for New Jersey, was at the Arlington to-day. During the day he had interviews with some of the members of the Cabinet who are now in the city. In conversation with a reporter be said that he was fully satisfied that Mr. Harrison would be elected. There was nothing in the Western situation which gave the committee any reason to doubt that Harrison would carry every State in that section. "In New Jersey," he said. "we are as sure of carrying the State and local ticket as we are sure of anything. The people of the State are tired of the bad administration of the Democrats. New York is a very large State, and a doubtful State, and difficult to judge of, but, knowing pretty well what is being done on both sides, and carefully estimating the chances, I am satisfied that Harrison will carry the State."

FOR POLITICAL EFFECT.

Attempt to Deprive Government Clerks of the Right to Register and Vote. CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—A question which presents itself to the election commissioners as a result of the State registration law is whether government clerks who have been in Washington can vote in the precincts in which they once lived. A large number of Pension and Printing Office employes presented themselves for registration. Some were refused, and those accepted were told that their names would be followed on the book with a mark indicating that they were not qualified voters. Chief Clerk Taylor, who was in the office when an official called to see what the decision was, said he could find no law to allow persons ote where they did not live. "I have looked up the law," he said, "and I can find no such provision, although the applicants claim a federal law in its support. United States District Attorney Milchrist thought, on first consideration, that the Washington employes had a right to vote somewhere, but he could not construe any federal statute to interfere with State laws. His advice was that registry clerks shou!d not accept the names, and mark them off as they would in the case of any other sus-

A dispatch from Washington says: "The attempt being made at Chicago to disfranchise Republican clerks who have gone home to register and cast their votes is done for political effect in some part of the country at almost every election. The courts have held that department clerks at Washington retain their residence and a right to vote at home."

Democratic Frauds at Detroit, DETROIT, Oct. 26 .- The boards of registration began their sessions to-day. Already there are reports of fraudulent registrations. It is stated that Lou Burt, chairman of the consolidated Republican city and county committees, this morning went from one registration board to another in the river districts of the First, Second, Third and Fourth wards carrying kodaks, with which he caught the pictures of persons marked by detectives in the employ of the Republican committee as repeaters or alieps. The pictures are taken to be used as evidence to prosecute the persons accused of trying to register illegally, Chairman Burt says. The names of over three hundred persons, Mr. Burt further says, have been secured by the committee's detectives. They are persons who have taken up quarters at cheap lodging-houses along the wharves, and who intend, it is said, to register and vote the Democratic

Another Wisconsin Gerrymander. Madison, Wis., Oct. 26.—The apportionment, as adopted by the Democratic caucus, with the exception of one district, passed both houses this evening. The exception is in the case of Foud du Lac county, where the Republican arrangement prevailed. Senator Krueger and Assemblyman Brown, both Democrats, voted with the Republicans the ground that the apportionment would not, in their judgment, stand a constitutional test. The majority of the Democrats, however, claim that the new apportionment is constitutional, and that under

Y., Oct. 26 .- The Democracy of Brooklyn held a mass-meeting in the Academy of Music here to-night, at which Adlai Stevenson and Congressman leader Rayner, of Maryland, spoke on the issues of the campaign. Over 4,000 persons, many dred prominent Democratic citizens occupied seats on the stage. Mr. Stevenson received an ovation as he stepped forward to deliver his speech, the great audience rising to its feet, waving handkerchiefs and wildly cheering. His speech varied little from those he has delivered throughout the campaign.

The County Democracy Is Dead. NEW YORK, Oct. 26 .- The County Democracy is dead. In a meeting to-night, which lasted over seven hours, it was decided to withdraw the whole county ticket. There were twenty members of the committee of thirty present and the vote stood 11 for withdrawal of the ticket and 9 against. The withdrawal of the County Democrats was precipitated by the action of the police commissioners in refusing to allow the national electors' names to be printed on the County Democracy ballots.

Burmese Cannot Be Naturalized. ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 26.-An interesting decision touching the question of naturalization has been rendered in the City Court on the application of San C. Po, of Burmah, to become a citizen of the United States. In his decision Judge Danaber holds that anative of Burmah, being neither a white alien nor an alien of African nativity, or a person of African descent, cannot be naturalized and admitted to become a citizen of the United States.

Minor Mention. Adlat E. Stevenson consulted Grover Cleveland vesterday in regard to the vicepresidential letter of acceptance. The letter may be made public to-day. The registration for the city of Chicago, which was completed Tuesday, largely exceeds the expectations of the politicians, the total amounting to 270,000 names. This is an increase over the registration of 1888

Ex-Senator Evarts will speak at Brooklyn Saturday night. In his letter accepting the invitation Mr. Evarts says that the gravity and dignity of the issues affecting the welfare of the country, to be determined at the coming election, oblige him to forego his wish to remain silent in political affairs.

Pardoned by the President.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.-The President forgot his sorrow to-day long enough to consider the cases of Marshal Wheeler and Lee Sing, & Chinaman, two convicts who are now lying at the point of death, the former in the York county (S. C.) jail and the latter in the Albany (N. Y.) penitentiary. Wheeler was convicted in South Carolina of violating the internal revenue laws and sentenced Aug. 18, 1892, to six months' imprisonment. He is suffering from typhoid fever, and it is represented to the President that he will surely die unless he has the benefit of purer air than the prison cell affords. Lee Sing is dying from cancer and is in need of immediate relief. The cases appealed particularly to the President in his own affliction and he ordered pardons to be issued in both cases. | maisdy was declared, his Holiness sent to

FLOWERS FORM HER COUCH

Mrs. Harrison's Casket Strewn Deeply with the Flowers She Loved Best.

Funeral Services in the White House To-Day to Be Extremely Simple and Brief-Action of the Cabinet Officers,

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26 .- A cold northwest wind set in last night, stripping the fine old trees in the grounds surrounding the executive mansion of much of their foliage, and this morning the aspect of nature was bare and dreary and in harmony with the desolation within the White House. There has been no official recognition by the executive branch of the government of Mrs. Harrison's death and there will be none except display at half-mast of flags on government buildings. The departments will be open on the day of the funeral, the same as on other days, and by the wishes of the family the business of the government will run on as though the country had not lost the wife of its most distinguished executive. The body of Mrs. Harrison has been laid out in the room in which she died. She shows in her emaciation the effects of the long, wasting illness of eight months that reduced her large, matronly figure to a thin, frail form. But her face in death has the same kindly expression that it had in life; her appearance is natural. There are no lines of suffering visible upon it. She looks as if her last moments had been full of peace, and her expression suggests that she was tired and had gently dropped asleep.

Mrs. McKee superintended the preparation of the dead woman for burial and communicated the wishes of the family to the undertaker. Mrs. Harrison, as is well known, was exceedingly fond of flowers. The casket was deeply strewn with them and they form her couch. The body was placed in the casket during the afternoon and quietly removed to the East Room to await the funeral services. Private Secretary Halford said to-day that the statement that invitations would be issued to the funeral services to-morrow is erroneous. He said that the family would not issue invitations, but expected only the kinsmen and relatives and a few of the really personal friends of the dead woman and of the President to attend. He added that the family did not wish to make a discrimination by the issuance of invitations, and that each person must determine for himself or herself whether or not the relations to the family brought him or her within the designation of a personal friend. The services will be severely simple and quite brief. They will begin promptly at 10 o'clock, and continue probably not longer than twenty minutes. Rev. Dr. Hamlin will open with the recitation of a few selections from the Scriptures adapted to the occasion, closing with a short invocation. Rev. Dr. Bartlett will then read the Scripture lesson, following which the boys' choir of St. John's Episcopal Church, recessed in the adjoining par-lor, will sing "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say Come Unto Me and Rest." Dr. Hamlin will offer a closing prayer, and, as those present are leaving the room, the choir will render Cardinal Newman's hymn, "Lead,

FLORAL TRIBUTES. Floral tokens have been coming all day to the White House from friends of the dead mistress of the White House. Vicepresident and Mrs. Morton sent a cross chrysanthemums, lilies of valley and orchids. Members the Potomac corps sent a banner of large chrysanthemums, and members of the Cabinet a large cross of paims. Nearly every piece contained chrysanthemums. fondness of Mrs. Harrison for that flower being generally known. A magnificent floral wreath was received from Mr. Whitelaw Reid. The body-bearers for the funeral service here have been chosen from the watchmen and messengers at the White House. The persons selected are: Messrs. Loefiler, Turner. Dubois,

At the request of Secretary of State John W. Foster, a meeting of the Cabinet officers in the city was held this morning at the State Department determine whether all of the Cabinet should go to Indianapolis to attend Mrs. Harrison's funeral. Those present were Secretaries Foster, Tracy, Noble and Rusk and Attorney-general, Miller. It was decided that all the Cabinet should attend the funeral except one member, it being decided best to have one representative remain here. Secretary Tracy will be the only member of the Cabinet who will not go. Secretary Charles Foster, who is absent from the city, will join the party in Indianapolis. Mrs. Miller, wife of the At-torney-general, and Mrs. Harrison's most intimate friend in Washington, will accompany the party on the train and it is exproted some of the wives of the other Cabinet officers will also go. Soon after the Cabinet adjourned Secretary Foster left for New York, but will return in time for the funeral to-morrow. Vice-president Morton will be one of the pail-bearers, taking the place of Secretary Charles Secretary Elkins returned to the city today and, with Mrs. Elkins, hastened to call on the President. Col. D. S. Alexander. United States attorney of Buffalo, an old friend of the family, called during the afternoon and expressed his deep personal grief. Among other callers who left cards or messages were General and Mrs. Vincent, Interstate Commerce Commissioners Knapp, Veazev and Dill, A. E. Mosley, Railroad Commissioner Taylor, District Attorney Hazelton, Mrs. Henry J. Raymond of New York, the Venezulean minister, Mrs. Wm. Walsh. of Maryland, Assistant Postmaster-general Bell, Mrs. Admiral Hughes, Representative and Mrs. Dalzell, S. J. Dunbar, Rev. Geo. W. Douglass of St. John's Church, and General Hazen.

To-day a large number of telegrams and letters of condolence were received. The following are the names of some of the Memorial Services at Clinton.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. CLINTON, Jad., Oct. 26.-Citizens, irrespective of party, held memorial services at the Presbyterian Church to-night in honor of Mrs. Harrison. The choir rendered several appropriate hymns and there were short memorial addresses by Miss Fannie Merrill Mr. and Mrs. J. U. Robb and Rev. J. P. Hutchinson, who read an original poem for the occasion. The programme concluded with a touching rendition of "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," by Miss Lulu Allen.

The Pope Grieved. ROME, Oct. 26.-The Pope was deeply interested in the illness of Mrs. Harrison, and expressed much sympathy for her in the distinguished patient the apostolic benediction. He was very much grisved when he was informed of her death.

GAUZY POLITICAL TRICK

Fishy Story About a Plot to Kill the "Statesman" of Medicine Lodge.

Jerry Simpson's Cause So Hopeless That the Populist Managers Have Been Forced to Adopt Questionable Tactics.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. KANSAS CITY, Oct. 26. - Either somebody is trying to frighten Jerry Simpson, or his cause is so hopeless that the managers of the ex-sockless statesman of Medicine Lodge found that something besides argument was necessary to aid him in his campaign. A dispatch from Wichita, Kan., says that the Democratic and Populist congressional committees of the Seventh district have unearthed a conspiracy to kill the Congressman, and that from now to the close of his canvass he will be accompanied by a body-guard. The story, as told by Simpson's friends, is as follows:

Some one writing at different times, over the signature of "F. A. P." from McPherson, Emports and Troy to one Robert Swivell, at Harper, Kan., after carefully unfolding a scheme to "plug" Simpson, entered into negotiations with Swivell to do the job for $2,000. Swivell is supposed to be an assumed name, but mail to this address has been regularly called for at Harper for the past six weeks. The letters were brought to Chairman Breidenthal, of the Populist State committee, by S. E. Cole, of Harper, chairman of the Populist committee of Harper county, Tuesday morning.
Cole received them from G. H.
Coulsen, of Anthony, a Representative of Harper county, who had a remarkable story to relate. He said that on Sunday afternoon, about 3 o'clock, a friend came to him who stated that he had information in regard to a conspiracy to kill one of his best friends. He would not reveal the name unless he would solemnly pledge under no circumstances to reveal the informer's name, as he knew the man to be desperate. After receiving the promise the friend handed him three letters which he had gotten from the man while he was intoxicated. He claimed to have met the unknown on the street, and the two had proceeded to a deserted house near town, where there was whisky. The revealer of the alleged plot became beastly intoxi-cated, and while attempting to tell of the deep, dark mystery the letters fell from his

Mr. Coulsen's friend picked them up and was horrified at the plot revealed by their contents. Sunday the letters were delivered to Coulsen. The following day Mr. Coulsen drove to Harper and handed them to S. E. Cole, who at once started with them to Wichita. After the chairman of the Populist congressional committee had read them Mr. Cole started for Topeka, and this morning returned with John W Briedenthal, chairman of the Populist State central committee. The letters are all written by the same person. The first is postmarked "Canton, Sept. 19." It states that "We want another objectionable plugged. Can you serve us?" The second letter is postmarked "Marion, Sept. 25." The writer offers Swivell $2,000 to dispose of Congressman Jerry Simpson or have it done. After stating that "it makes no difference whether he dies with his socks on or off." The letter concludes with cautioning Swivell to be more careful The third letter was mailed at McPherson. Oct. 8. The writer begins by saying: "No. we cannot pay you anything ourselves until the work is done. If you really must have some money with which to prosecute your plans, why, of course, let us know and we will do the best we can. As to your plan, I have no doubt at all but that it would work; at least, I trust in your ability to make it a success." The letter ends by saying that Jake, F. A. P.'s partner, will be down by the 15th to fix things up.

Hot-Headed Female Suffragist. LONDON, Oct. 26,-Miss Cozens, a noted female suffragist, speaking to-day at a meeting of the Woman's Emancipation Union, said that women should not go on talking until the crack of doom without getting redress for the injustices under which they suffer. The time had come for them to do something desperate. Women, she declared, had dynamite at their disposal. This statement was greeted with applause. When subsequently questioned as to whether she was serious in her reference to the use of dynamite Miss Cozens re-plied that she was if other means failed. R PENNSYLVAN IA ST committed suicide by shooting about o'clock this afternoon, in his office, No. 23 Kenyon Building. Mr. Robinson has been in ill health for some time, and it is thought that he committed snicide while brooding over his condition. He stood very high in insurance circles, and earned from $15,000 to $20,000 a year. Coroner Berry was at once summoned, and a verdict of suicide while laboring under temporary insanity was returned. Mr. Robinson's accounts are said to be all right. Mr. Robinson leaves a wife and four children, two of whom, Charles and William, are grown and Farmers Who Obeyed the "Hold-Yours Wheat" Circular Now Receiving Low Prices. Sr. Louis, Oct. 26.- The enormous load of actual wheat continues to weigh this market down like a mill-stone, and the result is that prices have for futures reached a lower price than ever before in the history of St. Louis as a grain market. There appears to be no let-up on the flow of wheat from farmers' hands which has been going on for weeks. Stocks are said to be enormous everywhere and constantly years, died at Martinsville yesterday. His truly astonishing. Receipts of wheat are the largest on record, and yesterday aggregated 6,228,749 bushels, as compared with 2,961,800 bushels the same time last year, when the yield was one of the largest ever raised in this country. That the deluge of wheat now pouring into the spring and winter-wheat markets is a natural result of the famous "Hold-yourwheat" circular issued last year is generally believed here. It is the opinion of the trade that much of the wheat now lying eaves, few of the shippers are inclined to pay the rail rate, and a majority of the boats do not care to take grain at any price, because every elevator from Toledo to Buffalo seems to be as full as those in Chicago. Some shippers are compelled to hurry their grain forward, but even by rail they meet stumbling blocks. One prominent road refused 250 cars of grain because the shipper wanted it routed over a trunk line from which no guarantee could be obtained of prompt return of cars. East-bound lines from Chicago are beginning to hoard their cars as a miser does his gold. If they took every car of the traffic offered them they might easily see the time, within a few weeks, when all the cars would be used as storage warehouses on trunk lines' side-tracks. Exactly the same state of affairs is coming about in a less degree on Western railroads. In spite of their best attempts, cars are being piled up in Chicago at a rate which will soon make the blockade of last year a very insignificant affair.
